APCTP Young Scientist Training Program at the Postdoctoral Fellow Level

<http://apctp.org>

The Asia Pacific Center for Theoretical Physics (APCTP) solicits applications for a few positions for the Young Scientist Training Program at the postdoctoral fellow level in theoretical physics and related fields. APCTP, first founded in 1996, is a non-governmental organization aiming for an international center dedicated to excellence in research and the training of young scientists in the Asia-Pacific region. Applicants are expected to have demonstrated exceptional research potential, with significant contributions beyond or through the doctoral dissertation. Applications would be encouraged if your field could be cooperated with Junior Research Group, which APCTP launched in 2008.

The monthly stipend starts from approximately KRW2,000,000 (Korean Won) per month. Some funds for travel and research activities are available if selected. The initial appointment is for one year, which is renewable up to one or two additional years, depending on the research performance and the availability of resources for the program. The new position typically commences on September 1st each year, with the application deadline of January 31, 2009. However, applications and appointments can also be made all year round on a continual basis, if requested and available. Applicants should send a curriculum vita with a list of publications, a summary of research plans at APCTP, and three letters of recommendations to:
